

“BUNCO BOOTH”

Home of the original fairground con-man!

Ever been caught playing fast and loose?

Never man aged to find the lady?

Are you a “marked” man?

These phrases and many more have become part of our everyday language, but they have their origins in the world of tricksters and con-men.

Fast and loose referred to a fairground con where unsuspecting passers-by were challenged to bet on which side of the chain would remain “fast or loose”

Our latter-day con-man will demonstrate all of the traditional fairground “scams” and show how easy it is to be fleeced at seemingly innocent games of chance ...(or should it be: “no chance?”).

Everyone thinks they could “Find the Lady” or lift the shell and find the pea.

“Care to bet on it Gov’nor?”
